

Red Beer

Nuremberg's "Rotbier" (red beer) is a cherished local specialty with deep historical roots. This copper-red brew, made primarily from barley malt, boasts a slightly malty flavor. Originating in the Middle Ages, Nuremberg's red beer was once one of the most popular styles, today, the tradition of brewing Rotbier has been revived, and it continues to be a favorite among beer enthusiasts.

A perfect spot to enjoy Rotbier is Tiergärtnertorplatz, a picturesque square located at the foot of Nuremberg Castle. This charming area, lined with historic half-timbered houses, is home to several beer taverns and outdoor seating, offering an ideal setting to relax with a glass of the iconic red beer. The lively atmosphere of the square makes it a popular gathering place for locals and visitors alike.

Nuremberg is part of Franconia, a region renowned for its impressive beer diversity. With the highest density of breweries in the world, Franconia offers an unparalleled variety of beer styles, from traditional lagers to specialty brews like Bockbier and Kellerbier. Beer lovers visiting Nuremberg can explore this rich beer culture by sampling the local offerings in traditional beer halls or attending one of the region's many beer festivals. The combination of Nuremberg's historical Rotbier and Franconia's brewing heritage makes this city a must-visit for any beer connoisseur.
